Join the Thousands of Vertica Users

While many men would rather not discuss the subject, research shows that from the age of 40, many men begin to experience gradual onset of erectile dysfunction (ED).

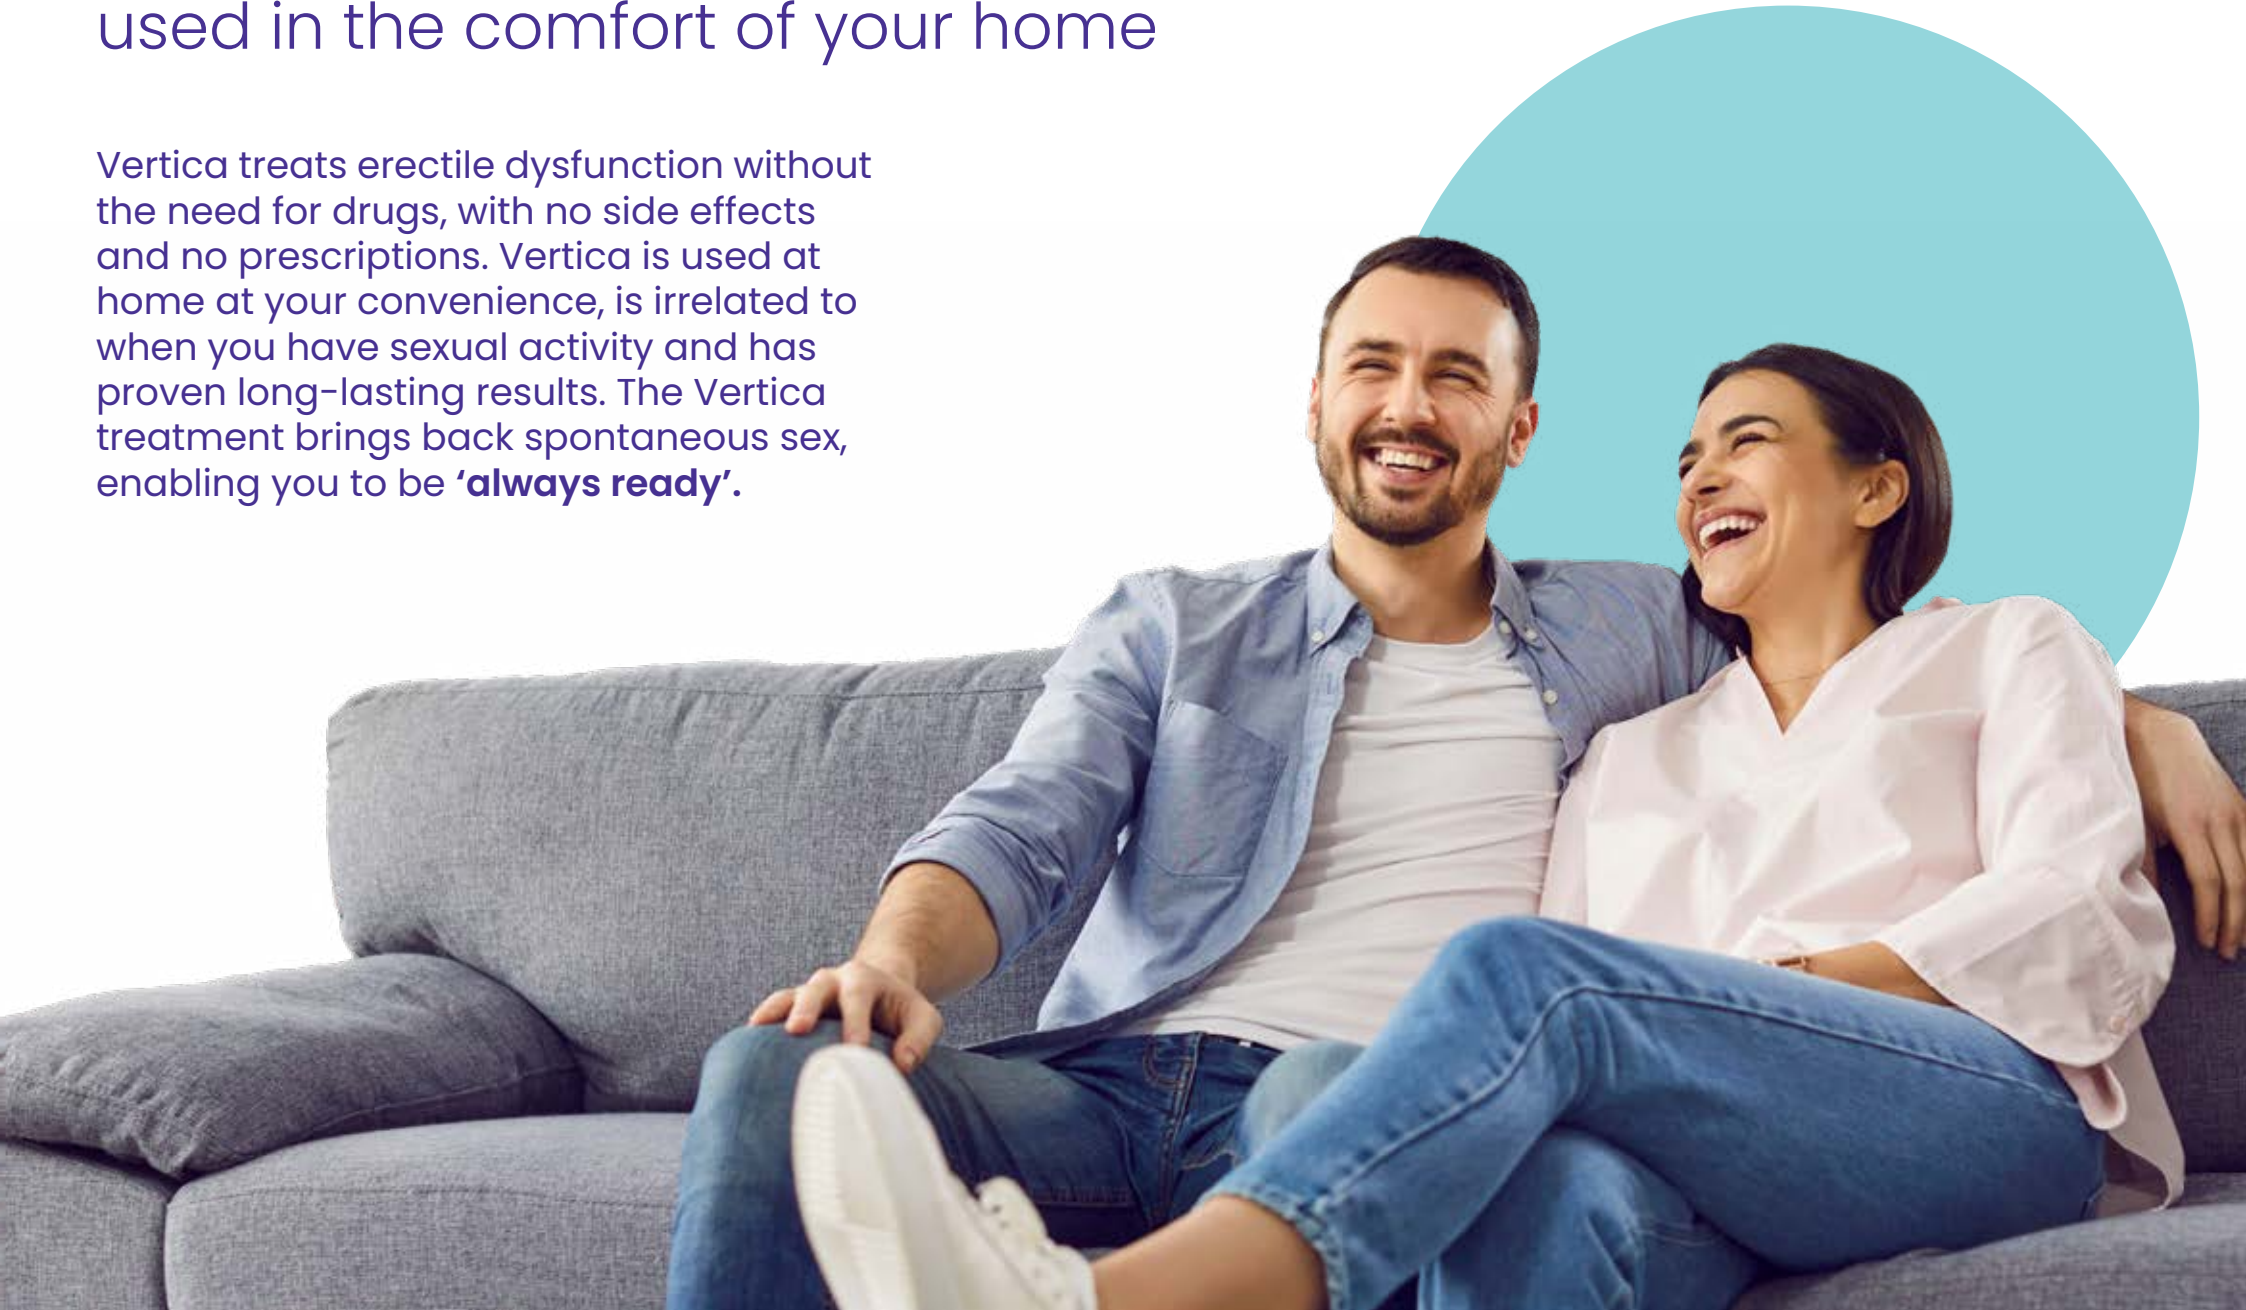

We have developed Vertica® together with experts in urology and advanced technologies, as a non-invasive, home use device for the treatment of ED. Thousands of men are already benefiting from their treatments with Vertica, improving their quality of life.

We've put together some information to help you decide if Vertica® is the right treatment for you. If you are looking for more information, visit our web site or drop us a mail.

Vertica® is a non-invasive medical device used in the comfort of your home

Vertica treats erectile dysfunction without the need for drugs, with no side effects and no prescriptions. Vertica is used at home at your convenience, is unrelated to when you have sexual activity and has proven long-lasting results. The Vertica treatment brings back spontaneous sex, enabling you to be 'always ready'.

The innovative technology is based on radiofrequency energy which warms the inner tissues triggering a physiological reaction that instigates regeneration of collagen and other tissues required for optimal erectile functioning.

Vertica leads in all parameters

Vertica treats the root cause. The majority of the available solutions, such as chemical and natural drugs, vacuum pumps, rubber rings, shock-wave devices, penis injections, and penile implants treat the symptom of erectile dysfunction – they do not even attempt to treat the root cause.

Vertica is different. It aims to treat the physiological mechanism that controls the erection and regenerates the damaged tissue.

Solutions aim to increase blood flow into the penis to create erections (in-flow), but they don't stop blood from flowing out (out-flow). Vertica addresses both issues at the root cause and our users report they are already experiencing improved erections, that last longer.

During the Vertica treatment you will feel a gentle warm sensation in your penis and perineum area (between your anus and scrotum). Our users report experiencing a pleasant warming sensation when Vertica is used.

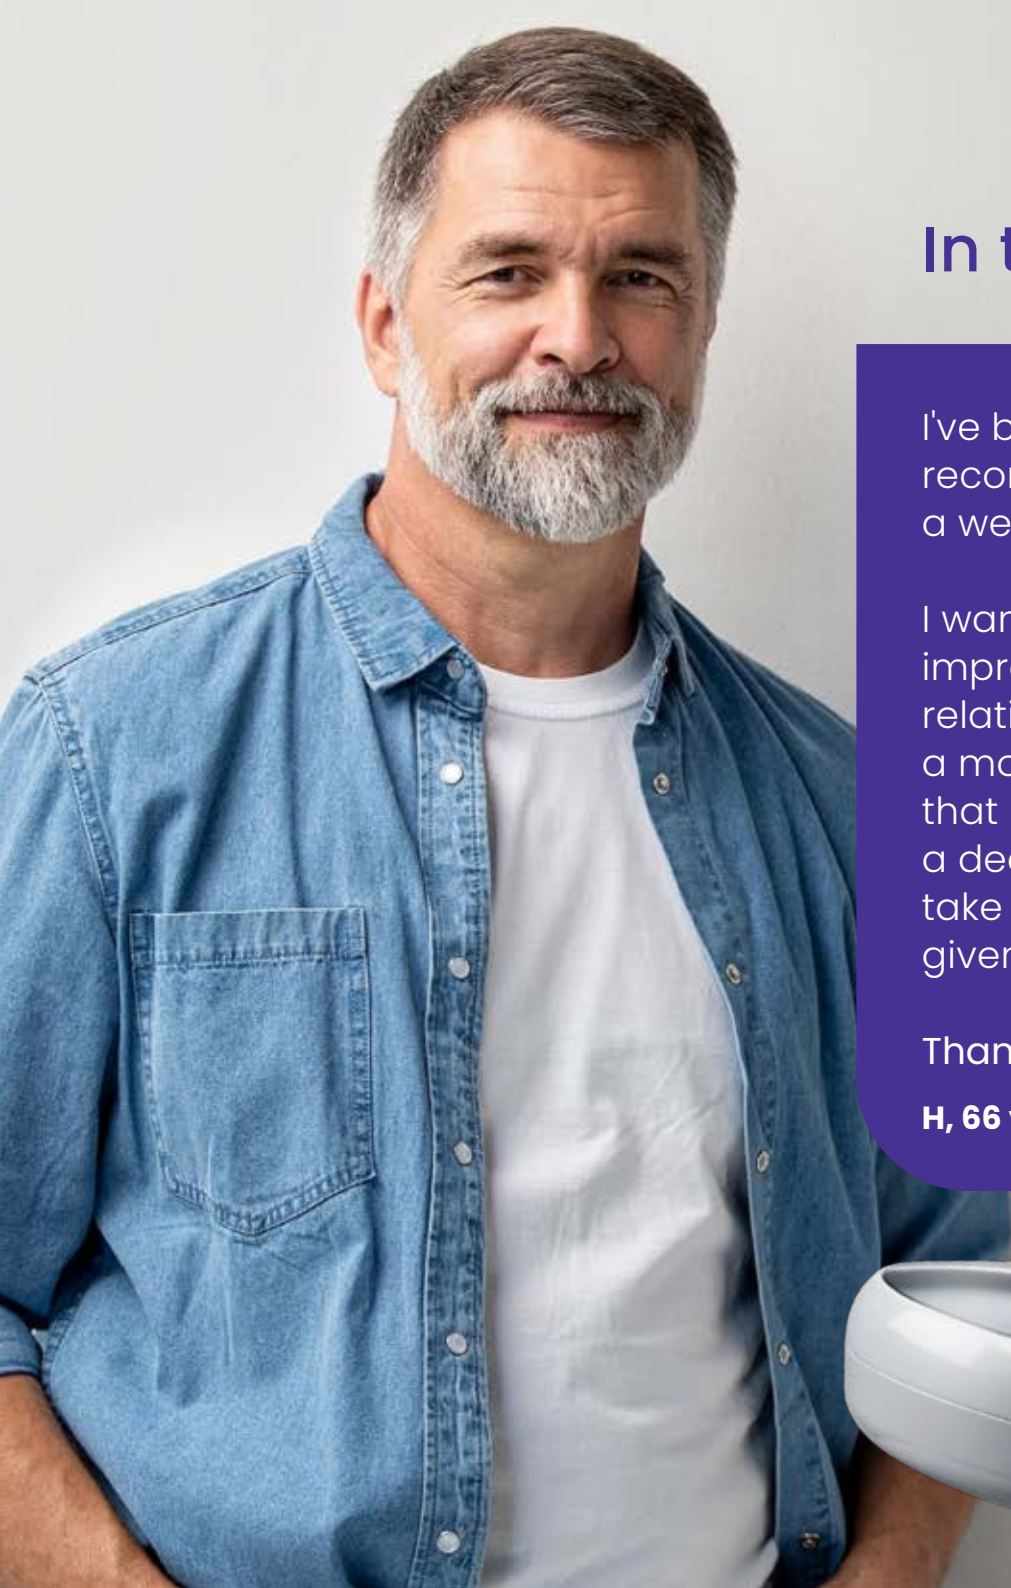

Since Vertica is used at home, men maintain optimal function by using Vertica regularly, similar to going to the gym to keep fit. Much like maintaining good body tone requires ongoing exercise, we suggest you continue your Vertica regimen to maintain good erectile functioning.

Once it becomes part of your workout, you will notice the difference.

That's because Vertica actually rejuvenates the tissues involved in maintaining erections.

Usually, men start to notice an improvement within the first two to three weeks of treatment; some even experience 'morning wood' and spontaneous erections throughout the day. The complete initial round of treatment usually lasts four weeks to 3 months.

In the Words of Our Customers

I've been using the Vertica device now for two months as recommended. During the first month, I used it 3 times a week, and in the second month, I used it twice a week.

I want to highlight that I am experiencing significant improvement, with longer erections, and I can now have relations twice a week. In the morning when I wake up I have a morning erection like I did when I was 18. Another thing is that my libido returned, which had been dormant for almost a decade. I have diabetes, I don't drink, and I am afraid to take any pills – so for me this is a genius invention and has given me a reason to live.

Thank you!

H, 66 years old

I am 69 years old and wanted to boost my performance and enjoy life to the fullest. I got a Vertica device 10 months ago. I followed the recommended treatment plan and within two months, I saw amazing results - my erections became stronger and more satisfying. Now I don't worry or stress about anything when it comes to intimacy. I just let nature take its course... and best of all, I don't need any pills or chemicals to make it happen.

Feeling confident is a game-changer. It makes me feel more alive and active. And that's what Vertica does for me.

If you want to experience the same, don't hesitate to try the device. You won't regret it.

G, 69 years old

In the last few years, my erection was not as strong as it used to be. While the pills were helping, I had to increase the dose over time. After treating with Vertica for two months, I already reduced the dose of the pills and I hope soon I will be able to stop taking them and restore the spontaneity as well.
